

Socially Distanced and Virtual Events

So, live events have changed. Significantly.
Here is our guide to producing events in 2020 and beyond.

Are you used to producing a live corporate event which includes a gathering of people, fantastic hospitality, uncompromised audio visual and brand journey? Yes, us too! But fear not, we've cracked the new look live event with this simplified guide.

Lets get straight to business – If you need to host a large corporate event, page 5 is our recommended solution. It offers delegate interaction, a socially distanced group of people onsite, a brand experience and turnkey online virtual platform.

Page 9 is our less formal online webinar event service which replaces the conventional Zoom or Teams. We manage every element and aim to make it tech-light and easy for organisers.

We hope this is of help. If you have any queries or would like to place an enquiry please email info@beaglecreate.com

Socially Distanced Events

The Devils in the Detail.

We can plan every inch of your event, not just the production! We measure your venue and produce scaled plans for accurate risk assessments, spacing due diligence, route planning and signage positioning.

Live Hybrid Events

This is the ideal replacement if your event resonates with these images,

Why not have the best of both worlds!

We can build your event in line with your normal style - the perfect backdrop to your event and professionally stream to your audience.

Integrating all the features from our B-Live Platform along with the live feeling from your host.

You can have a socially distanced audience, multiple presenters and panels sessions.

We have so far hosted AGM's, Town Halls and Team Building activities using this method.

The USP for this product is 100% familiarity. If your presenters aren't professional hosts, this will be the most familiar setting or them.

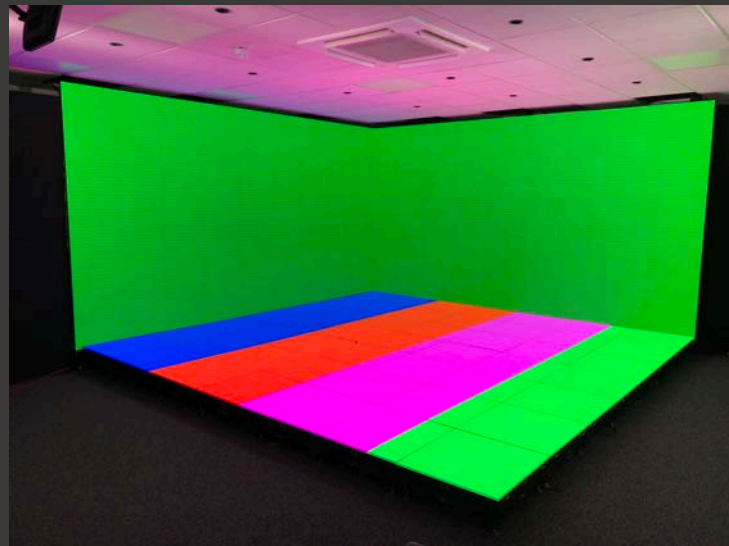

Your Event, Your Brand, Your Delegate Experience to broadcast.

These pictures are captured from a warehouse facility but the same or similar can be built in a venue of your choice.

Virtual Hybrid Events

These three pictures are one and the same. The top two show the physical setting where your presenters would host from. The bottom picture shows the extended reality which they 'appear' to be in.

We literally create whatever backdrop you want and mold it around the physical video screen and floor shown.

It's a ready-to-go option, we simply book the studio time and start creating the setting in the virtual software. It's a chance to have literally anything you want, or to replicate a previous event for a familiar feel. A very clever solution and a great experience for all involved.

With green rooms, hospitality packages and endless options, it's a fantastic solution to shine out of the pandemic.
